MEMORANDUM FOR LIEUTENANT GENERAL VANDENBERG:

Subject: TOP SECRET study dated 7 February 1947 regarding status and authority of the Coordinator of joint operations, of USCIB - USCICC, and of its members.

Reference: (a) TOP SECRET comment by USCIB Army members on subject study, dated 7 April 1947.

1. It is agreed that very satisfactory progress has been made under the existing plan for joint operations. The desire for continued cooperation and the avoidance of any controversy which may adversely affect it is therefore appreciated and fully concurred in.

2. The recommendations that action on the attached papers, which cover many points of principle, be suspended, and that operations continue under the present directive of the Coordinator are concurred in for the time being - as a result of an informal conference between the undersigned and General Chamberlin concerning the status and responsibilities of the Coordinator. It was agreed in this conference that, should the Coordinator (Navy) have any serious difficulty, which he cannot immediately overcome in executing the duty of his office as he understands his directive - he will refer the matter to Rear Admiral Stone. The latter and General Chamberlin will consider any such difficulty and endeavor to settle the problem. If unable to do so, they will refer the matter to USCIB, or to the Chief of Naval Operations and Chief of Staff, War Department, as may be appropriate.

3. In order to insure that the duties and responsibilities of the Coordinator are established on a proper basis for effective results and to settle any of the above mentioned points of principle which may then need to be resolved, the undersigned and General Chamberlin should again confer when the present Coordinator has held office for six months (on or about 1 October 1947) and recommend what further action, if any, should be taken.

MEMORANDUM FOR LIEUTENANT GENERAL VANDENBERG,
Chairman, U.S.C.I.B.

1. Careful study has been given the attached file. The progress made under the existing directive of the coordinator has been very satisfactory. The operations have been characterized by a fine spirit of cooperation and good will. The same individuals in charge, who have attained the present standard of coordination, remain in office when the duty of coordinator shifts to the Navy. There appears to be no major matters of coordination now unsettled that cannot be adjusted on the coordinator level under existing arrangements. Many points of principle are brought up in the attached papers which undoubtedly would require much time in solution and might, if attempts are now made to solve them, affect adversely the spirit of cooperation now obtaining.

2. It is recommended that action on these papers be indefinitely suspended and that operations continue under the present directive of the Coordinator.

Re: Report on the Status and Authority of USCIB-USCICC, its Members, and the Coordinator of Joint Operations

I do not disagree with the conclusions and recommendations of the report dated February 7, 1947, so long as the "directives" of the Coordinator of Joint Operations flow through established channels in order that objections may be raised on unforeseen problems. Further I feel that since a Coordinator does, in fact coordinate rather than direct, the "directives" are in fact recommendations or requests with which the member agency is obliged to comply in accordance with previous policy decisions. The member agencies are further obliged to advise the Coordinator whenever it is not possible to comply with his recommendations.

Very truly yours,

/s/ EDWARD A. TAMM
